

BACKGROUND

An emergency medicine physician executive sought to launch a new, direct-to-consumer (DTC) practice that could reach patients directly and address root causes of chronic disease. The new practice needed an online presence, and a comprehensive strategy for reaching and attracting patients online.

STRATEGY

Because the practice intended to use a DTC model, strategy focused on growing organic search traffic and building keyword rankings in Google for high-value search terms that would be likely to lead to conversions. Within 18 months, the new practice was on Pg. 1 of Google for business-critical keywords that were converting to new patients.
